Most small businesses offer the same or similar things as every other company in their field. To accelerate your sales, you have to have a competitive advantage. A business gets a competitive advantage when they have something different. Most business try to be better than the other businesses in their industry. Better does not work – you must be different, which means having a competitive advantage. That is the key to more sales. The best way to get a competitive advantage is to file IP – patents or trademarks.

Most firms bill hourly. They bill by the time spent on your matter. The reason they bill hourly is because law firms make more money from their clients by billing this way. Lynn LoPucki, a Law Professor At UCLA Law, Said “It’s Hard To Get Across What A Totally Insane System This Is.” Although most firms bill this exact way, we take a different approach.

We DO NOT bill hourly. Instead, we have a set price for every service offered. This saves our clients a huge amount of money.

So...Forget Paying Expensive Law Firms For A Patent Or Trademark!

Most firms are afraid to offer this. It is risky, but we are willing to take this risk because we know that, like every small businesses that take many risks, we also are comfortable taking this risk...

Thank you.
